THE MUSIC. THE STORY.

JustG is an Irish DJ and house music producer blending UK garage and deep house influences.

DJing across Ireland since the age of 17, he later became one half of HalfTraxx. The duo's 2021 debut, "Loving You" with Sarah McTernan, entered the Official Irish Homegrown Chart at No. 14.

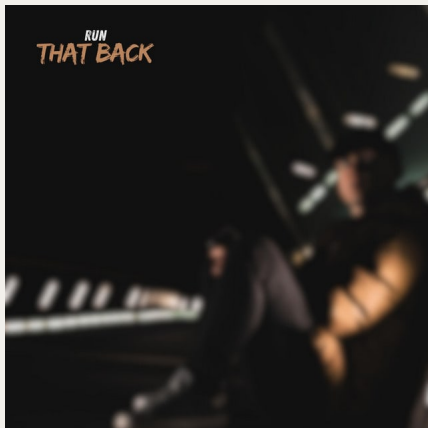

His solo releases have generated more than five million plays and earned multiple iTunes No. 1s. He has featured in Hot Press magazine and received airplay across Ireland, with multiple Track of the Week selections on RTÉ 2FM and SPIN.

In 2025, he joined Marty Guilfoyle for an official remix of Allie Sherlock's "How Love Works".

He has since moved away from commercial house toward a more club-focused sound, drawing on years behind the decks to make music for peak-time sets.
